

Carers Strategy Outcomes - Lead Action Groups

Action Group	Lead	Contribute	Support
Communication, Information and Engagement Action Group  Co Chairs: Vicky Caunt/Adam Tingle/Lisa Swainston	People who are caring are proud to identify as carers because they feel valued for the contribution that they make.	Carers are more satisfied with the support they receive because it is based upon what they have said is most helpful. Carers feel that they are properly supported throughout their caring role.	Care is more joined up and carers feel that they are respected members of a care team. Young people feel that they are part of the caring that happens in their family whilst making the most of their education and social life. Being involved in caring will improve, not damage, future work prospects.
Parent Carers Action Group  Chair: Doncaster Parents Voice		Young people feel that they are part of the caring that happens in their family whilst making the most of their education and social life. Being involved in caring will improve, not damage, future work prospects. Carers feel that they are properly supported throughout their caring role. Care is more joined up and carers feel that they are respected members of a care team.	People who are caring are proud to identify as carers because they feel valued for the contribution that they make. Carers are more satisfied with the support they receive because it is based upon what they have said is most helpful.
Service Development, Commissioning and Performance Action Group  Chair: Fay Wood	Carers are more satisfied with the support they receive because it is based upon what they have said is most helpful.	Care is more joined up and carers feel that they are respected members of a care team. Carers feel that they are properly supported throughout their caring role.	People who are caring are proud to identify as carers because they feel valued for the contribution that they make. Young people feel that they are part of the caring that happens in their family whilst making the most of their education and social life. Being involved in caring will improve, not damage, future work prospects.
Developing Skills and Professional Practice	Care is more joined up and carers feel that they	Carers are more satisfied with the support	People who are caring are proud to identify as

Action Group Chair: tbc	are respected members of a care team. Carers feel that they are properly supported throughout their caring role.	they receive because it is based upon what they have said is most helpful.	carers because they feel valued for the contribution that they make. Young people feel that they are part of the caring that happens in their family whilst making the most of their education and social life. Being involved in caring will improve, not damage, future work prospects.
Young Carers and Siblings Action Group Chair - Angela Harrington	Young people feel that they are part of the caring that happens in their family whilst making the most of their education and social life. Being involved in caring will improve, not damage, future work prospects.

DRAFT