1.0: SUMMARY

- Violent, Drug and Public Order offending in the Op ALLIGATOR area reduced by over 50% in the 6 months to September 2010 compared to the same period during the 2009.
- In 2009 offending increased in July and continued to rise in September.
- The trend in offending is upwards for both time periods. However, following an increase in July and August 2010, offending fell in September.
- Offending in the Cumulative Impact Zone represented 53% of all offending in the Op ALLIGATOR area in the 6 months to September 2010. This compares to 59% of offending in the corresponding period in the previous year.
- Offending in the Cumulative Impact Zone fell significantly vis-a-vis the corresponding period in 2009,. However, the current trend is slightly upwards. This trend is skewed by a sharp rise in offending in August, possibly linked to a seasonal increase in outside drinking. Offending fell in September 2010.
- ASB in the Op ALLIGATOR area rose slightly over the 6 months to Sep 2010. However, incidents in the Cumulative Impact Zone fell slightly over the same period.

2.0: OFFENDING IN THE ALLIGATOR AREA

- Violent, Drug and Public Order offending during the evening economy fell by over 50% in the 6 months to September 2010 compared to the same period during the 2009. Table 1 gives the figures per month, which are also shown pictorially in Graph 1.
- Graph 2 shows the trends in offending during the 6-month period April to September in 2009 and 2010.
- Graph 2 highlights the reduction in offending in 2010 compared to 2009. Offending in the 2 periods increased overall. This chart highlights:
  - > A peak in May 2009
  - > Offending converged in July through an increase in 2010 and a decrease in 2009.
  - > From July 2009 offending continued to rise, whereas in 2010 the increase was less severe and started to fall in September.

Graph 5

- Although offending in the Cumulative Impact Zone has fallen significantly vis-a-vis the corresponding period in 2009, the current trend is slightly upwards. However, this trend is skewed by a sharp rise in offending in August, possibly linked to a seasonal increase in outside drinking.
- The spike in offending in August 2010 was reversed in September.
- Table 4 gives the offences committed in the Cumulative Impact Zone during the 6 month period to sep 2010. This data is shown pictorially in Graph 6
