In addition to providing an emergency response, they also play an important role in prevention and early intervention. It is essential that the service continues to undertake prevention activities, not only to prevent the occurrence of fires and accidents, but also to work with wider partners, such as the NHS and Local Authorities to keep people and communities safe and well. As our population of older people, and people with long-term illnesses and disabilities increase, joint working to identify and support those who at most at risk will become more important.
