RECOMMENDATIONS

4. That the Council sign up to the Co-operative Party's Charter Against Modern Slavery, as shown in Appendix 1.
5. That the Council implement practices and policy changes to adhere to the principles of the Charter and ensure compliance with its requirements.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN FOR THE CITIZENS OF DONCASTER?

6. Signing up to the Charter will ensure the Council adheres to enhanced practices which aim to counter and eliminate modern slavery. This gives the citizens of Doncaster the assurance that the Council will not tolerate and will actively try to prevent modern slavery.

BACKGROUND

7. Though slavery was abolished in the UK by the slavery abolition act 1833, worldwide there are more slaves today than ever before in human history. Figures from the International Labour Organisation (ILO) suggest that there are more than 40 million people in modern slavery across the world, with nearly 25 million held in forced labour.
8. There were 3805 victims of modern slavery identified in the UK in 2016. A rising number but still well below the 10,000 and 13,000 potential victims estimated by the Home Office.
9. Modern Slavery is happening nationwide. Traffickers and slave masters use whatever means they have at their disposal to coerce, deceive and force individuals into a life of abuse, servitude and inhumane treatment. This can include sexual and criminal exploitation.
10. Local authorities have a number of statutory duties under the Modern Slavery Act 2015. This includes the duty to notify the Home Office of any individual encountered in England and Wales who they believe is a suspected victim of slavery or human trafficking. The Council currently adhere to the statutory obligations contained within the Modern Slavery Act.
11. This Charter and guide does not cover all statutory and safeguarding duties. Those are covered in more detail in the Local Government Association (LGA) guide on how councils can tackle modern slavery. This Charter is a way of recognising what councils can do above their statutory obligations to raise awareness and ensure their own supply chains do not contribute to modern slavery.
12. The Charter is a series of simple and low-cost actions that councils can take to ensure their supply chains are not contributing to modern slavery. Awareness is very important, in recognising and acting on the signs of slavery. That is why training of officers is key, as well as informing suppliers of their obligations. Key rights for workers, such as freedom to join a trade union and whistleblowing, help ensure an environment where modern slavery can't thrive.
13. This Charter relates specifically to local authorities' approach to procurement. Nationally councils spend over £40bn procuring services through the contracts annually. Such serious spending lends councils leverage which can be used to stamp out any modern slavery being practised in their supply chains.
14. Doncaster Council spends approximately £200m with suppliers annually. Progressive councils, such as Doncaster Council, have long used procurement policy to secure social value, from requiring contractors to pay the real living wage to refusing to do business with construction firms who practise blacklisting, to securing local apprenticeships. The purpose then of the Co-operative Party's Charter Against Modern Slavery is to commit signatory Councils to taking ten practical steps to ensure their contractors do not exploit anybody as a modern slave, for instance through forced labour or debt bondage. The Charter provides a framework for local authorities to ensure that none of the Council's spend ends up in the pockets of traffickers. The ten points are as follows:

- 1) Train its corporate procurement team to understand modern slavery through the Chartered Institutes of Procurement and Supply's (CIPS) online course Ethical Procurement and Supply
- 2) Require contractors to fully comply with the Modern Slavery Act 2015, wherever it applies, with contract termination as a potential sanction for non-compliance
- 3) Challenge abnormally low cost tenders to ensure they do not rely upon the potential contractor practising modern slavery.
- 4) Highlight to suppliers that contracted workers are free to join a trade union and are not to be treated unfairly for belonging to one
- 5) Publicise its whistle-blowing system for staff to blow the whistle on any suspected examples of modern slavery.
- 6) Require its tendered contractors to adopt a whistle-blowing policy which enables their staff to blow the whistle on any suspected examples of modern slavery
- 7) Review its contractual spending regularly to identify any potential issues with modern slavery
- 8) Highlight for its suppliers any risks identified concerning modern slavery and refer them to the relevant agencies to be addressed
- 9) Refer for investigation via the National Crime Agency's national referral mechanism any of its contractors identified as a cause for concern regarding modern slavery.
- 10) Report publicly on the implementation of this policy annually.

RISKS AND ASSUMPTIONS

19. Implementation resources have been deemed as light and can be absorbed into existing staff roles.

The result of which reduces the potential for contractors to exploit anybody as a modern slave or carry out human trafficking offence.
22. This further enforces the Council commitment to irradiate any potential for these types of offences occurring in the Councils supply chain.

FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS [AT 10/03/20]

23. There will be no expected costs from signing up to the charter, and if there are, they are unlikely to be significant and so met from existing budgets.
